BREATH

All life is dependent upon breathing. Vitality, freedom from disease and peace of mind are enhanced and sustained through the habit of correct breath flow.

Breath flow affects the nervous system, therefore the entire body. The nervous system has a connection with the spiritual influences of the etheric and astral bodies. The Etheric World is the mental body that is closest to the physical body. It carries all that one has done that day and the memory of people, places, and things in one's life now. Each person, place and thing has left an imprint on the subjective mind and the etheric body. The Astral World consists of all that one has ever experienced in this lifetime, all other lifetimes and all that has ever been experienced. All the entities in the Spirit World are in the Astral World. The etheric and astral bodies are directly affected by breath flow.

FREE AND THEY ARE FREE."

FRIDAY OCTOBER 9, 2009 7PM

LIFE IN THE SPIRITUAL WORLD

The Spiritual world is in the Etheric or Celestial heaven known as the "Mythical Being". The Spiritual world is immaterial, not consisting of matter, impalpable and not able to be physically touched.

The activity in the Spirit world is tremendous. The amount of activity that one knows about depends on one's development level.

In the Spirit world there are planes of understanding and they range from high to low. In the lower planes, ignorance, lack of understanding, low consciousness, lustful desires are some of the vibrations.

The Higher world has Sages and other wise entities that can be of assistance in one's evolution. Example, Plato on the Earth plane has its counterpart in the Etheric.

There are centers of learning in the Spirit world where one can be educated on many different things. These centers help one purify and refine the soul.

In the Spiritual world, travel and communication are done through telepathy. Your consciousness determines what plane you will be on in the Spiritual world. The plane one is on is who one really is. This does not differ from the Earth plane. One thinks one can hide who they are in the Earth plane, but the people they associate with, the places they go to, and the actions they do show the consciousness of that person.

Intuition

Intuition is a given. It's your greatest resource and best go-to place for clarity and direction. Intentionally focused, it's like walking into a fresh, empowering space. Intuition integrates connections beyond logic and mental noise, opening a door on to unexpected options and possibilities. Simply put, it is your foundation for creating joy and success.

The beauty of your intuition is that you can nurture and refine it. The magic is tangible transformation.

Here are some ideas for fine-tuning your intuition:

Meditate:

Taking even a few minutes each day to center and focus your attention inward re-connects you with your authentic self. Your truest self is aligned and integrated with the whole and knows its place in the universe and the world.

Accept opportunities:

Immediately accept the opportunities that come to you. Opportunities often come in unexpected ways. Whether it's a job, a class, a challenge, a fear, something too good to be true, love, forgiveness, or a do-over, tap into your intuition and follow it.

Detach from outcomes:

Let go of "right" or "wrong". Just keep practicing. No one taught you how to swim or ride a bike. They showed you ways to find your own ability to do that. It was already within you. Competence and confidence came through practice. Your intuition is the same way. The more you practice the better and the easier it gets.

Intuition is called by many names. Some are mystical, like the small, still voice, clairvoyance, or angels. Some are more pragmatic, like gut feeling or common sense. Whatever we call it, we all have it. Just like your body, your mind, and your emotions, your intuition is a given. Just like your hand, your thoughts and your feelings, it has a place and true function in your life. Rev Sally Taylor

WISDOM, Justice, Judgment, and Intuition are under one head in spiritual awareness. Sensation, feeling, affection and love are closely allied. When the desire for pleasure or sensation is indulged and wisdom ignored, a realm of awareness is established that regards the material world as the only reality. The still, small voice is Wisdom. When judgment quickens, we discriminate between what is wise and unwise. When quiet and in meditation we listen to the voice of knowing. In the heat of passion and the joy of pleasure, one does not listen to the still, small voice.

Is the great day of judgment a time in the future?? Is this day a day for punishment for mistakes and misdeeds? The day of judgment is everyday!!! Translators changed everyday to "A". This is a way to control people by depicting God as a vengeful God. If a law has been broken you do not have to wait to pay for it. By waiting one makes a mountain out of a mole hill. "Just wait until your father gets home." Discernment, pure knowing, is natural to all through divine sunship. When divine righteousness is called, judgment moves into action. One's standard of wise and unwise goes through rapid change. Let divine guidance become steady knowing, wisdom, judgment, discrimination, intuition, in all the departments of mind.
